non was in no sense whatever a candidate.

"Why, in your opinion, should be refuse to be a candidate? Is it because his son is already in the race?"

"That is one reason, but not the least. Mr. Cannon is one of the presidents of the church, and as such it would ill become him to be fighting and wire pulling over public office. And besides, he has been particularly averse to the Mormon people manifesting eagerness for public office, and he therefore could not consistently take any steps in this direction even if he desired the honor which the office of United States Senator involves."

"Why should President Cannon hold that the Mormon people should not manifest eagerness for political office; are they not entitled to do so in common with other citizens?"

"It was not a question in his mind as lest eagerness for political office; are they not entitled to do so in common with other citizens?

"It was not a question in his mind as to whether they are entitled or not to hold office; but at the commencement of the division movement, witnessing the feelings of distruct existing, (for it was said at that time whenever statehood should come the Mormons would be enjoying all the offices and the Gentiles paying the taxes, or words to that effect) Mr. Cannon expressed himself publicly to the effect that, in the first place, it was a had sign to see people running after political offices; and, in the second place, nothing would contribute so much towards bringing about confidence among all classes of the community as for the Mormon people to act generously towards the non-Mormons in this respect."

"Would it be inconsistent for President Cannon to be senator and one of the presidents of the church."

"In my opinion not necessarily so."

"When you say that President Cannon is not a candidate, do you mean that he would not accept the office if he knew he could get it?"

"I mean just what I say, that he has authorized no one to announce him as a candidate, and that he is not a candidate."

"Then you do not say that he would not accept the office if the legislature tendered it to him?"

"That is a phase of the question I have never heard mooted. I do not claim to be reared the office if the legislature tendered it to him?"

not accept the office if the legislature tendered it to him?"
"That is a phase of the question I have never heard mooted. I do not claim to be President Cannon's mouthplece any more than to be able to say unequivocally in his absence that he is not a candidate."
"There is just one expression," continued Mr. Gibbs, "which I am supposed to have used in my talk with the Tribune reporter which I would wish modified, it is that where I am ade to declare that Mr. Sharp's construction of President Cannon's words was 'suffrely unwarranted. My explanation of Mr. Sharp's position is this, that he being eager for President Cannon to become a candidate, took it that President Cannon was as willing to become one as Mr. Sharp was to make him one. The words, 'entirely unwarranted,' are too strong language for me to use in reference to a gentleman like Mr. Sharp, in other words, it may do for President Cannon to say that but not me."

AMUSEMENTS.

MARIE WAINWRIGHT .- It is nearfour years since Marie Wainwright has been seen in Suit Lake, and she comes back better equipped than ever to sustain the high favor in which she has always been held. Her new play, "Daughters of Eve," which she preented last night, is a drama of the highest order, and was especially written for her by two American playwrights, A. E. Lancaster and Julien Magnus. This play seems to afford Miss Wainwhight the best opportunity to display her rare versatility that the has had since she became a star. Miss Wainwright impersonates alternately the double of the display in the display Last Reception of the Kind That the Veteran Commandant Will Give, as He Will Soon Be Upon the Retired List—Enjoyed By the Military Men.

him free to accept the office should the legislature tender it to him. Mr. Cannon is still absent from the city, but his friends, with whom the matter has been mentioned, freely express his sentiments so far as be has made them known to them.

Mr. George F. Gibbs was seen yesteraday and asked: "In an interview with a Tribune reporter published this morning you deny apparently in an authoritative manner that President George Q. Cannon is a candidate for the United States Senate; is the public to understand that you are authorized by President Cannon himself to make this denial?"

"I am reported correctly in the Tribune," said Mr. Gibbs. "I told the reporter, in the absence of President Cannon, that I knew his mind so well on this subject that I could answer if in the most positive manner possible, and I did make answer that President Cannon was in no sense whatever a candidate."

"Why, in your opinion, should be reuse to be a candidate? Is it because his on its already in the race?"
